Christmas Tree Farms: Find a fresh tree in Germany

By Holly DeCarlo-White
USAG Stuttgart Public Affairs

Selecting a tree for the holidays

Needles on fresh trees should be green and hard to pull back from the branches, and the needles should not break if the tree has been freshly cut. The trunk should be sticky to the touch. Old trees can be identified by bouncing the tree trunk on the ground. If many needles fall off, the tree has been cut too long and, has probably dried out, and is a fire hazard.

Caring for your tree

- Do not place your tree close to a heat source, including a fireplace or heat vent. The heat will dry out the tree, causing it to be more easily ignited by heat, flame or sparks. Be careful not to drop or flick cigarette ashes near a tree.
- Do not put your live tree up too early or leave it up for longer than two weeks.
- Keep the tree stand filled with water at all times.

Where to find fresh Christmas trees

The Boy Scouts Troop 324 begin accepting pre-orders for Christmas trees at the Winter Market on Patch Barracks each year. Trees are available for pickup and purchase December 2-4 at the Hub, Youth Center on Patch Barracks located next to the Fitness Center. For more information, visit troop324.de.

Vendors with pre-cut Christmas trees can be seen throughout the Stuttgart area with temporary stalls, including at most Christmas Markets.

Other stores likely to carry trees for sale are garden and home stores such as; OBI, Ikea, Bauhaus, Dehner, Toom or Hornbach.

Christmas tree farms to cut your own

Uhlandhof

Uhlandhof offers different types and sizes of Christmas trees. You can select and cut your own favorite tree on the tree plantations around the farm, or there are also hundreds of pre-cut trees to choose from.

Free tours on the farm's covered cart are available Dec 4, 15, 21-22, along with horseback riding, a Christmas market and Santa Claus, welcoming kids with pre-Christmas gifts. Also, visit the Forest Hutzelwald of with wooden animals to learn more about German forests.

Uhlandhof is located approximately 40 km from Stuttgart, at Uhlandhof 1, 73110 Hattenhofen.

For more information, visit http://uhlandhof.de/christmas_time.htm.

Weihnachtsbaum-Kulturen

Since 1991, Weihnachtsbaum-Kulturen has cultivated Christmas trees, specializing in Nordmann fir. According to their website, customers can pick out a tree in autumn, then in December, this exact tree will be cut down and prepared.

Weihnachtsbaum is located approximately 21 km from Stuttgart, at Heckbachstraße 7, 71404 Korb. For information, contact 0170-868-8901, or visit www.weihnachtsbaum-haendler.de.

Müller

According to their website, this nursery has been selling Christmas trees for over 40 years on the slopes of Herrenbach. While there you can enjoy glühwein, see Christmas themed displays and handmade ornaments for sale. Tree sales begin Dec. 6.

Müller is located approximately 40 km from Stuttgart, at Mittelmühle 1, 73099 Adelberg. For information, contact 0716-6859, or visit mittelmuehle-adelberg.de.

Magical spell: Enjoy holiday season in Germany

By Carola Meusel
USAG Stuttgart Public Affairs Office

Christmas in Germany casts a magical spell on cold and dark winter days. It's a time to celebrate long-standing family traditions, regional customs and values.

During their everyday routine, Germans pause and sit back to enjoy Christmas cookies, meet with family and friends at home or go to the many local Christmas markets, where they can taste hot Glühwein and Christmas punch.

The holiday season in Germany officially begins with Advent. Historically, Advent is the season in which Christians await the birth of Jesus Christ on Christmas day.

An Advent tradition in Germany is the Advent wreath. The wreath is made out of fir tree branches and decorated with dried fruits, pine cones, glittering Christmas ball ornaments or stars. Four candles represent the light brought into the world by Jesus Christ. A candle is lit each Sunday until Christmas Eve.

During the 20th century, the Advent calendar was introduced in Germany to help count down the days before Christmas Eve ("Heilig Abend," or holy evening). The typical Advent calendar is made out of paper and has 24 doors, one to open each day from Dec. 1-24. Children will find holiday season-inspired images or chocolate behind the paper doors. Some calendars also have boxes or small bags filled with presents to open each day.

Most people in Germany also begin to bake Christmas cookies, such as cinnamon stars, gingerbread and "Gutsle," or Swabian shortbread cut-out cookies, during the Advent season.

Dec. 6 marks the birthday of Nikolaus, or Nicholas, Bishop of Myra (known today as Turkey), and is celebrated in Germany as St. Nicholas' Day. Legend has it that on his birthday, Nikolaus would don his precious bishop's coat, fill a big sack with nuts, apples, tangerines and honey cake, and load it on the back of his donkey. He then picked up his staff and walked along the streets, giving away the food to those he met.

Today, children place their boots outside their doors on the night of Dec. 5 in hopes that St. Nikolaus will leave some goodies in their shoes. Early on Dec. 6, most children find their boots filled with candy, gingerbread, toys, tangerines and nuts. In other cases, St. Nikolaus, also called "Weihnachtsmann," (Christmas man) visits children during the day in kindergartens and schools, or makes a grand entrance during the evening hours at home.

He is often accompanied by his helper, Knecht (servant) Ruprecht. Knecht Ruprecht carries all the presents for the children in a big sack on his back and has a birch switch hanging from his belt for those children who misbehaved during the year. While St. Nikolaus typically has a long white beard and wears a red coat with a red Santa hat, Knecht Ruprecht wears a brown or black coat and has a long gray beard.

In Germany, Christmas Eve is celebrated with close family. Traditionally, the gift exchange takes place in the afternoon, followed by a festive meal. The choice of meal varies from goose with red cabbage, dumplings or potatoes, to fish, or, typical for Swabia, Saitenwürstle (sausages) with potato salad.

Many people in Germany visit extended family and friends on Dec. 25 and 26, also called the first and second Christmas days.

Whether you're German or American, the holiday season can be filled with laughter, joy and even a little bit of magic. Sitting around the Christmas tree with family and loved ones, unwrapping presents and nibbling on Christmas cookies together makes for a special time and memory to share.

In the words so many Germans will be saying to each other this month: "Fröhliche Weihnachten" (Merry Christmas)!

Stuttgart observes American Indian Heritage Month

Story and photos by Holly DeCarlo White
USAG Stuttgart Public Affairs

America's rich and diverse cultures, traditions, and histories were celebrated, Nov. 15-16, at Kelley Barracks and Panzer Kaserne, respectively.

November was National American Indian Heritage Month, or also commonly referred to as American Indian and Alaska Native Heritage Month. The U.S. Army Garrison Stuttgart's Equal Opportunity office and community leaders hosted two observances.

Under the theme "Serving Our Nations," the event programs featured guest speakers Kendall Old Elk, a member of the Apsaalooke nation (the Crow Tribe from the south-central part of Montana), and Military Police Staff Sgt. Lionell D. Red Cloud, a member of the Oglala Sioux Tribe from Pine Ridge, South Dakota.

Col. Glenn K. Dickenson, commander, USAG Stuttgart, remarked on the importance of this year's theme during the ceremony held on Panzer Kaserne.

"It's not just serving a nation, it's serving our nations ... learning how they served and understood the culture and nature around them," Dickenson said.

Old Elk spoke to the history of his tribe and performed at both ceremonies, accompanied by his wife and daughter. He also gave attendees insight on the meaning behind details of his Native American regalia, from each feather earned in battle, to teeth and bones.

Kendall Old Elk, a member of the Apsaalooke nation, or Crow Tribe, performs a traditional dance for Stuttgart military community members at the National American Indian Heritage Month ceremony, Nov. 15, 2016, on Kelley Barracks, Stuttgart, Germany.

On Kelley Barracks, Red Cloud is the 7th generation of the original Chief Red Cloud. His great grandfather was the last chief to bear the name Red Cloud. The tribe is currently without a chief. Red Cloud spoke to his heritage and personal background as a Native in America, serving in the U.S. military.

"I am not a Native American, I am Native and American. I wear my uniform with pride for my heritage and my country," Red Cloud said. "I do not regard my family history with shame, but of pride, because it is American history. What my grandfather did was open doors for our people, and through our battles with his government, we became unified as one people, one country, that I'm proud to serve."

Red Cloud ended with one reminder for all: "We are people, we live with you, we learn with you, our children play with yours, we work with you, we serve with you. We are native and American."

These observances celebrate and acknowledge the important contributions of Native peoples. Heritage Month is also an opportune time to educate the general public about the hundreds of tribes and cultures in the U.S. still today, and to raise awareness about the challenges Native people have faced both historically and in the present, and the ways in which tribal citizens have worked to conquer these challenges.

Apps that can help manage holiday stress

By Beth Schwinn
DCoE Public Affairs

The holidays don't always go as well as I'd like. Based on the story below from a Washington Post annual online sharing of holiday horror stories, that's true for a lot of people.

"We were doing a southwest theme, so I was making a tequila lime turkey. I'm used to using wine for cooking and will often just dump more in if the sauce needs it. I checked on the turkey, realized the sauce needed a little more tequila, poured it over the turkey, mixed the sauce in the roasting pan, and put it back in the oven. About five minutes later I was standing by the sink. The oven door went flying open, there was a very loud WHOOSH noise, and a giant fireball came shooting out the oven door."

Sometimes trying to do too much at once (ahem...multitasking) results in turkey flambé. But sometimes, the problems can be more serious: an absent loved one or a health condition such as post-traumatic stress disorder that makes it uncomfortable to be in a group, or a brain injury that results in headaches or cognitive dysfunction when things get too chaotic. We've heard how fireworks and crowds are upsetting for those with PTSD and brain injuries, but other holiday events can be tough, too.

The apps listed below can help you ease holiday stress. But if you feel persistently sad or anxious, plagued by physical complaints, unable to sleep, irritable and hopeless, or unable to face routine chores, talk to your doctor or a mental health professional.

If apps aren't your thing, the Mayo Clinic suggests some low-tech ways to cope with stress: take a walk at night and stargaze, listen to soothing music, get a massage, or my personal favorite – read a book.

Check out these mobile apps and consider downloading a few for strategies to help you identify stress and plan for a peaceful, happy holiday.

Use T2 MoodTracker to figure out when your stress levels are rising. This free app from the National Center for Telehealth and Technology (T2) helps

There are many ways to ease holiday stress, find one that works for you. If you are in crisis, seek help immediately by going to the nearest emergency room, or contacting the Military Crisis Line. Dial in Europe: 00800 1273 8255 or DSN 118 * for 24/7 crisis support.

you identify the things in your life that contribute to feelings of stress and anxiety. By monitoring mood and behavior over a period of time, you can see how environmental influences and life stress may affect your psychological health. Unique features make it easy to keep a record of your emotional experience for your own awareness, or to share with your therapist or health care provider. MoodTracker is available for Apple and Android devices.

Release stress with Breathe2Relax. Deep breathing helps activate the body's relaxation response. This popular app guides you through breathing practices to help you physically calm yourself in stressful situations. Practice the exercises regularly on their own or in tandem with clinical care directed by your health care provider. The app is available for Apple and Android devices.

Manage stress with Tactical Breather. T2's customizable stress management tool introduces you to the benefits of controlled breathing through a tutorial and guided exercises. Primarily created for service members during intense combat situations, the app teaches you how to gain control of your heart rate, emotions, concentration, and other psychological and physiological responses to your body during any challenging situation in life. Free downloads for Apple and Android devices.

Practice mindfulness. Mindfulness is a term used to describe a set of strategies designed to change the way people think about everyday life. It is not necessarily the same thing as mindfulness meditation, which is clinically demonstrated to help treat various psychological health concerns. (Check out our series on mindfulness meditation to learn more about this practice.) Mindfulness Coach, developed by T2 in partnership with the Department of Veterans Affairs, introduces the concept of focusing mindfully and can help you maintain a meditation practice during the holidays. Even if you can't practice regularly, taking a moment to be mindful will help in times of stress. While the free app is currently only available from the iTunes store, there are plans to develop it for other devices.

Do you have a favorite mobile app to help you navigate holiday stress? Share it with us in the comment section below.

And remember, during the holidays and every day, the DCoE Outreach Center is available to offer free help day or night. Call 866-966-1020, email resources@dcoeoutreach.org or live chat with a counselor.

USARAF: Honoring fallen veterans in Tunisia

Story by Staff Sgt. Lance Pounds
U.S. Army Africa

VICENZA, Italy — Veterans Day, originally known as Armistice Day, is a federal holiday dedicated to honoring all veterans, past and present.

As far back as 1919, when President Woodrow Wilson issued a message expressing what he felt the day meant to Americans, the day has been celebrated by all those who have served, are currently serving or support those who serve the Nation's military.

Members of U.S. Army Africa traveled to Carthage, Tunisia to participate in the Nov. 11 North Africa American Cemetery's annual Veterans Day ceremony. The observance was held under the auspices of U.S. Ambassador to Tunisia, the Honorable Daniel Rubenstein, and USARAF Commander, Maj. Gen. Joseph Harrington.

The ceremony began with speeches from the official party.

Nearly a century after President Wilson's message to the American public, Harrington shares his thoughts of the observance and what it means to him in his address to ceremony attendants.

"I am honored to be here at the final resting place for more than 2,800 American military members who lost their lives during World War II," Harrington said.

The North Africa American Cemetery is one of 25 permanent American cemeteries maintained by The American Battle Monuments Commission. The ABMC, established by Congress in 1923, is an agency of the executive branch of the federal government. The commission also maintains 27 federal memorials, monuments and markers, located in 16 foreign countries.

In his speech, Harrington noted the historic relationship and strong partnership of the United States and Tunisia; and how both countries face common enemies and work together towards common democratic objectives.

"Together, we are countering the threat of transnational terrorism and meeting increasing demands for military forces to secure our nations," he said.

Perfectly aligned in rows, 2,841 bleach-white headstones gleaming in the Tunisian sunlight cover most of the cemetery's 27-acres.

"Most of the names on the tombstones here are only known to their families," said Harrington. "But to me, each is a hero."

Harrington talks of two such "heroes", Capt. Foy Draper and Pvt. Nicholas Minue, whose unwavering dedication to duty stands to this day as examples of leadership.

As Army Air Corps pilot, Draper flew bombers over the heavy fighting for Kasserine Pass. On January 4, 1943, he and his crew went on a mission and did not return.

"Draper was just one of those many veterans that joined the military to fight against the Axis invasion of Europe and North Africa," Harrington said.

Harrington said Draper may be better known for his achievements at the 1936 Summer Olympics in Berlin. Draper represented America in the 4 x 100-meter relay and his team took first place.

"Another fine, brave fighting American buried here is Pvt. Nicholas Minue," said Harrington.

Born in Austria-Hungary to Ukrainian parents, Minue immigrated to the United States, became a citizen and eventually enlisted in the Army in 1927.

The career veteran gave up his rank to serve overseas in combat as a private with the 1st Armored Division.

In April 1943, Minue's unit was fighting Afrika Korps soldiers when they came under machine gun fire.

Minue affixed his bayonet and assaulted the enemy, killing 10 machine gunners and riflemen. He continued to attack until he was mortally wounded.

Minue was posthumously awarded the Medal of Honor for his actions.

Harrington said that in addition to Draper and Minue, 240 unknown Americans are buried here. The names of another 3,724 Americans, declared missing in action from battles fought during WWII, are also honored here on the Wall of the Missing.

On this wall of engraved names, Rosettes mark the names of those since recovered and identified.

"The individuals buried here exemplify heroism and self-sacrifice. These are the same characteristics found in a select group of American citizens," said Harrington.

"These citizens are America's veterans." He said.

Harrington said there are more than 21 million veterans in the United States today.

"Veterans are our brothers, sisters, mothers, fathers and children," he said. "They built and stabilized America's past; they are America's future."

In his many years of service, Harrington said he has talked to hundreds of Soldiers about their reasons for joining.

"Most serve because they love their country and want to protect and defend it." Harrington said, adding that he serves for similar reasons.

"I want my son, and someday his children, to know what it means to live in the 'land of the free' and the 'home of the brave,'" said Harrington. "I want others to realize the tremendous honor they have to live in a country based on high ideals. It is my constant hope and desire that others will realize what a privilege it is to be an American and take steps to serve and protect the very freedoms upon which this nation was founded."

Harrington concluded his speech addressing the link veterans of today share with their predecessors.

He said men and women from every background and lifestyle who had to make the ultimate sacrifice for their country, knew the price of freedom and willingly put their lives on the line for reasons greater than themselves.

"Our very existence as a great nation depends on how well we transmit these values and ideals to the following generations." Harrington said.

"Today we honor these brave men and women," said Harrington.

The ceremony concluded with the official party, one-by-one laying a wreath on the cemetery's Stone of Remembrance on behalf of their organizations and the men and women of the U.S. military.

Ukrainian Soldiers conduct mortar live-fire at IPSC

Story by Staff Sgt. Elizabeth Tarr
U.S. Army Europe

YAVORIV, Ukraine — Soldiers assigned to 6th Squadron, 8th Cavalry Regiment, 2nd Infantry Brigade Combat Team, 3rd Infantry Division, along with Polish and Ukrainian multinational partners, acted as observers/controllers for Ukrainian Soldiers assigned to 1st Battalion, 80th Airmobile Brigade during mortar live-fire, Nov. 9, at the International Peacekeeping and Security Center, as part of the Joint Multinational Training Group-Ukraine.

The Ukrainians were conducting direct lay training on six 120mm mortar systems. A Ukrainian battery consists of two platoons, each having three 120mm mortar systems. Each platoon occupied opposite sides of a road to provide adequate coverage during the training exercise.

According to 1st Lt. Claire Vanderberg, mortar platoon leader assigned to 6-8 CAV, direct lay means that a mortar battery can view the target. The gun commander is going to identify a target, and he is going to try to engage that target just with himself, his gun and his crew. They are going to estimate range to the target, using binoculars, adjust the elevation of the gun, aim and shoot.

“Depending on how good they are, it could take a couple of rounds to actively engage the target,” she said. “Each gun is going to have the opportunity to fire on its own and then we’re going to fire as a platoon and then as a battery.”

Since July, Vanderberg has been responsible for planning, coordinating and training Ukrainian Soldiers on the mortar system. She is currently on her second rotation training

A Ukrainian Soldier assigned to 1st Battalion, 80th Airmobile Brigade, pulls a lanyard to fire a 120mm round from a mortar system, Nov. 9, before a direct lay training live-fire exercise at the International Peacekeeping and Security Center. The training exercise was observed/controlled by Soldiers assigned to 6th Squadron, 8th Cavalry Regiment, 2nd Infantry Brigade Combat Team, 3rd Infantry Division, along with Polish and Ukrainian instructors, as part of the Joint Multinational Training Group-Ukraine. JMTG-U's mission is aimed at developing defensive skills and improving Ukraine's capacity for self-defense.

Soldiers and said she is impressed with the knowledge of the current unit.

“This unit is very well trained and we have fallen into more of an observer/controller role,” she said. “The American, Polish and Ukrainian instructors are able to stand back, observe and make sure they are firing safely.”

Vanderberg has worked with the

1-80th Airmobile Brigade for several weeks and has formed a professional relationship with the battery commander.

“When I first met the battery commander, he said that he was really interested in learning from us (Americans) and the Polish because he said, ‘if you can learn all modalities of war, then you can be the god of war.’”

JMTG-U's mission is aimed at developing defensive skills and improving Ukraine's capacity for self-defense. They accomplish this during a nine-week training rotation that starts with individual skills, like the different tactics used with mortar training, and builds up to collective skills training such as platoon live-fire and ultimately a battalion field training exercise.

All APOs and CMRs will be closed Thanksgiving Day, Dec. 26 and Jan. 2, and on Sundays.

STUTT GART TAX CENTER SEEKS VOLUNTEERS

The Stuttgart Law Center is gearing up for tax time and are seeking volunteer tax preparers to train and assist the community with 2016 returns.

Tax season begins Jan. 17 through June 1, Monday-Friday, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. The Tax Center is located at the Law Center on Kelley Barracks, Building 3312 on the second floor.

In order for the Stuttgart Tax Center to provide assistance to the Stuttgart community, volunteers are needed.

Volunteers must be able to work a minimum of two days per week and are required to attend the Internal Revenue Service certification course from Jan. 17-20 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Previous tax experience not required. Minimum age to volunteer is 18.

For more information and to volunteer, contact DSN: 421-2817/civ. 711-729-421-2817.

SCSC PATCH THRIFT SHOP THRIFTMAS MARKET

Stop by the Patch Thrift Shop on Patch Barracks Dec. 1-3 for the Stuttgart Community Spouses Club's annual Thriftmas Market. Enjoy shopping, food and drinks and live entertainment. For information and hours, visit <http://stuttgartspousesclub.org>.

Donations are on pause and not accepted until Dec. 5, so the Thrift Shop can conduct their Thriftmas Market.

THE USO'S PICTURES WITH SANTA

Come and enjoy a festive day of crafts, holiday snacks, and the always popular photo with Santa! No registration is required. For more information, call 07031-201-9012 or visit the USO. Ready, set, smile 12 – 4 p.m., Dec. 6.

SANTA PAWS

Stuttgart USO is hosting a special event just for our furry friends to celebrate the holiday season and take photos with Santa. Enjoy meeting other furry friends and treats for pets 10 a.m. – 12 p.m., Dec. 7. Safety first: please be aware of your furry friends' ability to play nice with others in close quarters and all pets must be kept on a leash.

TÜBINGEN PHOTO WALK

The USO will be hosting a photo walk in the historic town of Tübingen, Dec. 10, 10 a.m. – 2 p.m. We will meet at the Anlagensee across from the Hauptbahnhof and stroll through the streets of the university town searching for things to photograph. We will make stops at places like Neckarinsel on the Neckar River to see old colorful timber houses, Schloss Hohentübingen, Am Markt, Stiftkirche, and whatever else pops up in our viewfinders. When we finish, we will get together at a cafe and talk about all things photography and make new friends. Cost is $25 for the day.

STUTT GARTER WEIHNACHTSMARKT TRIP

USO Stuttgart will take a lucky group of community members to the Stuttgart Weihnachtsmarkt to enjoy one of our favorite German traditions, Dec. 10, 4 p.m. While the location of the fabulous market is in our own backyard, it can be a tricky parking situation so we're loading two buses and taking the stress out of it. Don't wait to sign up, this trip fills up fast! The trip is FREE but requires an advance deposit of $20 per person or $40 per family (Deposit will be refunded upon boarding the bus). Stop by the USO on Panzer Kaserne to reserve your spot.

PORTIONS OF BAHNHOFSTRASSE IN SCHÖNAICH BLOCKED UNTIL DEC. 23

Obere Bahnhofstrasse in Schönaich is scheduled to be blocked for road construction starting Nov. 2 until Dec. 23. Vehicle traffic coming from direction Pfefferburg will be rerouted via Böblinger Strasse (L 1185), Bahnhofstrasse, Berliner Strasse, Herdlauchring, and Danziger Strasse, continuing via Vogelsang on to Panzerstrasse (K 1057). Commercial vehicles will be rerouted via Böblinger Strasse, Bülhlstrasse, and Steinenbronner Strasse (K 1051), continuing via Panzerstrasse (bypass road). Accessing Bahnhofstrasse via Kelterweg or In den Bergen won't be possible during this timeframe. Detour signage will be in place.

Going Green: Have a green, sustainable holiday season

By Centers for Disease Control and Prevention

Make sustainable holiday choices when you are shopping, traveling, sending cards, decorating, and choosing gifts. When you save energy and resources, you protect the environment and safeguard health both now and for the future.

Sustainability is the responsible use of environmental resources in the present so that future generations will have enough to meet their needs. For many of us, our priority during the holidays is time spent with family and friends. But the holidays can also be a time when we spend too much and create too much waste.

Consider these statistics:

- Americans throw away about 25% more trash between Thanksgiving and New Year's Eve.
- If every American family wrapped just 3 presents in reused materials, it would save enough paper to cover 45,000 football fields.
- About 35% of Americans have an unused Christmas present collecting dust in their closets.

To incorporate sustainability into your holiday celebrations, a list of suggestions for is provided:

Decorate with items that are energy-efficient and durable.

- If you decorate with a holiday tree, make the most energy efficient choice.
- Buy an artificial tree that you can use for years to come.
- Use energy efficiently.
- Consider using few or no lights in your holiday decorations.
- Decorate with more energy efficient LED strings.
- Plug your decorative indoor and outdoor lights into a timer to save electricity.
- Decorate creatively and inexpensively with natural materials from your yard or with items you already own.
- Make your own cards or choose cards made of recycled paper.

Use fewer resources when you shop, give presents, and wrap gifts.

- Shop online.
- Take your own bags on shopping trips. Keep them in the car so they're always available.
- Conserve energy when shopping by combining several trips in one, using mass transit, or carpooling.

- Give gifts that are durable, energy efficient, recyclable, or made of natural products.
- Support your local economy by buying from local merchants, craft shows, or antique shops.
- Purchase gifts that are fair-trade, locally made or grown, or organically grown.
- Make your own gifts: knit, sew, bake, build, or create art; make calendars using your own photographs or a recipe book with favorite recipes.
- Give in ways that also support your community: tickets to local theater performances, concerts, sports events, local attractions; museum memberships; gift certificates for a massage at a local spa, horseback riding, or a rock climbing lesson.
- Give your time and skill—coupons for household chores, meals, gardening, cleaning, window washing, car detailing, scheduled dog walks, or lessons in computer or smartphone use for senior citizens.
- Donate to a charity or service organization in the name of a friend of relative who supports that cause.
- Use creative materials for gift wrap:

- Scarves, fabric, handkerchiefs
 - Old maps, sheet music, advertisements
 - Reusable tins, baking pans, or other home or garden items
- Consider alternatives to battery powered toys. If you must provide batteries for a gift, be sure to buy rechargeable ones. If you are giving electronics, choose energy saving items.

Give cards that are eco-friendly.

- Send email cards or make your own.
- Buy cards made from “post-consumer” content and printed in nontoxic inks.
- Reuse the fronts of old cards as holiday postcards or gift tags.

Eat sustainable food and avoid disposable containers and extra packaging.

- Research sustainable food choices in your area and buy locally if possible.
- Buy snacks and beverages in bulk to avoid extra packaging.
- Serve food with washable utensils, plates, and glasses, rather than disposable items.
- Make homemade eggnog, hot chocolate or iced tea in large quantities.

Health Beat: Tips for celebrating safely with alcohol this season

By National Institute on Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism

We all want to celebrate during the holidays, and for some this includes alcohol. However, this can put ourselves and others at risk because we don't understand how alcohol affects us during an evening of celebratory drinking.

Myths Persist

Despite potential dangers, myths persist that, for some, can prove fatal. Scientific studies supported by the National Institute on Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism provide important information that challenges these widespread, yet incorrect, beliefs about how quickly alcohol affects the body and how long the effects of drinking last.

Alcohol's Effects Begin Quickly

Holiday revelers may not recognize that critical decision-making abilities and driving-related skills are already diminished long before a person shows physical signs of intoxication. Initially, alcohol acts as a stimulant, and people who drink may feel upbeat and excited. But don't be fooled.

Alcohol soon affects inhibitions and judgment, and can lead to reckless decisions. As we consume more alcohol, reaction time suffers and behavior becomes poorly controlled and sometimes even aggressive. Continued drinking causes the slurred speech and loss of balance that we typically associate with being drunk.

At higher levels, alcohol acts as a depressant, which causes the drinker to become sleepy and in some cases pass out. At these levels, alcohol can also cause black-outs or periods of amnesia where a person does not remember what happened while he or she was intoxicated.

In the most extreme cases, drinkers face the danger of life-threatening alcohol poisoning due to the suppression of vital life functions.

Even When Drinking Stops — Alcohol's Effects Do Not

During an evening of drinking, it's also easy to misjudge how long alcohol's effects last. For example, many people believe that they will begin to sober up — and drive safely — once they stop drinking and have a cup of coffee. The truth is that alcohol continues to affect the brain and body long after the last drink has been finished. Even after someone stops drinking, alcohol in the stomach and intestine continues to enter the bloodstream, impairing judgment and coordination for hours.

Before You Celebrate — Plan Ahead

So this holiday season, do not underestimate the effects of alcohol. Don't believe you can beat them, or they may beat you.

Here are some tips to keep in mind if you choose to drink:

Pace yourself. Know what constitutes a standard drink and have no more than one per hour.

Have “drink spacers” — make every other drink a non-alcoholic one. Make plans to get home safely. Remember that a designated driver is someone who hasn't had any alcohol, not simply the person in your group who drank the least.

How to stay informed: winter advisories, road conditions, closures

By USAG Stuttgart Public Affairs Office

When winter weather strikes, U.S. Army Garrison Stuttgart community members don't need to be in the dark on cancellations and delays.

The garrison has resources to keep the community informed when decisions are made that impact operations due to the weather.

Facebook

By 5:30 a.m., and throughout the day when conditions warrant a change, notifications are posted to the garrison Facebook page, at <https://www.facebook.com/USAGarrisonStuttgart>.

AFN Radio

Announcements also air on American Forces Network Stuttgart (102.3 FM). You can also listen online using AFN 360: http://afn360.afneurope.net/AudioPlayer.html#afne_stu

Telephone Hotline

Community members can also call the Weather and Road Condition Hotline at 431-3744 or civ. 07031-15-3744.

The decision to cancel or close operations is made by the garrison commander after he has been informed of the current road conditions by the director of Emergency Services, based on Military Police patrols.

Military Police patrols access only installation roads. Roads in the surrounding local communities outside of the installations, including bus routes, are not assessed or reported on by the MPs.

Announcements regarding service member and employee work-reporting instructions during times of delayed or closed operations only apply to the garrison organizations and its workforce, the Logistics Readiness Center and Department of Defense Dependents Schools.

For those who work for U.S.

European Command, U.S. Africa Command, Special Operations Command Europe or other organizations, work delays and early releases are only authorized by their leadership.

Individual drivers should access the safety of their travel routes and should contact their chain of command if they feel travel would be unsafe.

Editor's Note: Community members are advised to use Facebook, AFN, or the weather hotline as the first source for road condition information, instead of calling the MP desk to keep emergency lines open.

Safety Corner: Be safe this winter

By USAG Stuttgart Safety Office

Driving Tips:

- Reduce your speed – When it snows, use your head not your feet. Slow down for wet, snowy, or icy conditions; when visibility is poor; or when conditions are changing or unpredictable; no matter what type of vehicle you drive.
- Travel safety around snow plows
 - snow plows plow far and wide
 - sometimes very wide. The front plow extends several feet in front of the truck and may cross the center-line and shoulders during plowing operations. Plows also turn and exit the road frequently.
- Be prepared – Before venturing out onto snowy roadways, make sure you've cleared the snow off your vehicle's windows and lights, including brake lights and turn signals. Make sure you can see and be seen. Buckle up, and remember, when driving in ice and snow, take it slow.

Dangers of Ice

Walking, snowshoeing, snowmobiling, ice fishing (with or without a car), cross country skiing, skating, and playing sports are dangerous pastimes when you don't know how to tell if ice is thick enough to withstand weight. There are ways to assist in gauging the potential safety of ice, such as observing its color, testing its thickness and being aware of external factors such as temperature, local conditions and local knowledge. However, no sport undertaken on ice over water bodies is ever without risk. If in doubt, do not go onto the ice; moreover, it never pays to be too early or too late in the season.

Avoid slips, trips and falls This time of year is typically slip/trip/ fall injury season on and off the job. You can prevent this type of thing from happening by:

- Recognizing the many hazards at work or at home
- Avoiding hazards by walking around them
- Controlling hazards by marking them clearly so others won't get hurt
- Correcting hazards yourself or
- Reporting hazards to someone who can correct them

Here are some tips which you may find helpful in avoiding slip/ trip/fall injuries:

- Practice safe walking skills.
- Wear slip-resistant shoes.
- Keep one hand free for balance.
- Avoid carrying heavy objects or two handed carries when walking on surfaces with snow or ice.
- Don't walk on ice unless you absolutely have to and can't avoid it.
- Pay special attention to slippery surfaces (ice or snow covered) which are not level or when going up or down steps.

The origin and traditions of Chanukah

By Rick Beigler
Special to The Citizen

The Jewish celebration of Chanukah commemorates the rededication of the Second Temple in Jerusalem during the time of the Maccabean Revolt against the Seleucid Empire some 2200 years ago.

The Temple which was at the time the center of Judaism was occupied by the Seleucids who had tainted or destroyed the oil needed to light the menorah in the Temple. After the Maccabees had recaptured the Temple, they found only enough oil to last for one day, but it miraculously lasted eight days.

Each year, for eight nights we celebrate beginning on the evening of the twenty-fourth of Kislev on the Jewish calendar. This year, that date corresponds with the sixth of December. Each night, a special candelabra known as a chanukiah, is used to commemorate the miracle. We light one candle on the first night using a special helper candle known as a shamash.

On the second night we light two candles, on the third night we light three candles, and so on until by the eighth night, all eight candles are lit. Some traditions during the holiday include eating of any foods fried in oil, playing with tops called dreidels, and giving of coins or chocolate coins called gelt.

Many similarities can be noted between the Chanukah traditions and their German counterparts. Potato pancakes known as latkes are commonly eaten with apple sauce or sour cream are undeniably similar to German Kartoffelpuffer mit Apfelmus or Reibekuchen sold at Christmas markets. Dreidel is a Yiddish word which is derived from the German word dreh, which means to turn or spin. The gelt, or coins is the Yiddish word for money, which comes from the German word Geld, which also means money.

The popularity of the holiday is relatively new. In the United States, Jews attempting to assimilate with their Christian neighbors elevated the importance of the usually minor festival solely due to its proximity on the calendar to Christmas. This also helped to alleviate some of the jealousy that Jewish children may have had of their Christian friends and schoolmates.

Hanukkah 2016 begins in the evening of, Dec. 24 and ends in the evening of, Jan. 1.

The origin and traditions of Kwanzaa

By Diamond Brown
Blacks in Government Program

Kwanzaa is an African American and Pan-African holiday celebrated by millions throughout the world, from December 26 to the 1st of January. The name Kwanzaa is derived from the phrase “matunda ya kwanza” which means “first fruits” in the Swahili language. The first fruits celebrations are recorded in African history as far back as ancient Egypt and Nubia. Kwanzaa builds on the five fundamental activities of Continental African “first fruit” celebrations: ingathering of people to share bonds; reverence of the creator; commemoration for the past and honor of our ancestors; recommitment to the highest cultural ideas; and celebration for the good of life.

The heart and soul of Kwanzaa in America is to build a sense of family, community, and culture within the African American community.

The founder, Dr. Maulana Karenga, established the celebration during The Civil Rights and Black Freedom Movements. His purpose was to encourage cultural awareness and a historic and personal identity among African Americans.

The Kwanzaa celebration which is a cultural and not religious holiday, exemplifies all that is unique and valuable to Africans and African Americans. With the celebration of Kwanzaa, Dr. Karenga introduced to the African American community seven distinct values of African culture: Umoja (Unity), Kujichagulia (Self-Determination), Ujima (Collective Work and Responsibility), Ujamaa (Cooperative Economics), Nia (Purpose), Kuumba (Creativity), and Imani (Faith).

The actual Kwanzaa celebration takes much time and preparation to gather all the required African and African inspired materials. You must show respect to its traditions and follow the steps for preparation with dignity. The colors of Kwanzaa are BLACK for the people, RED for the struggle, and GREEN for the future.

To prepare, you will need a mat (mkeka), candle holder (Kinara), and seven candles (saba): one black candle, three red candles, and three green candles.

In a central place in your home, preferably your dining room table, you would spread an African Cloth. Next the mat would be placed in the center of the cloth to symbolize rootedness in tradition. The candle holder would be placed on the mat and each candle would be placed in its distinct order.

The black candle is placed in the middle; the red candles are placed to the left of the black candle and the green to its right. The first day of Kwanzaa the black candle is lite to demonstrate Unity. The following six days the candles are lite from left to right. The red candles demonstrating: Self-Determination, Cooperative Economics, and Creativity. The green candles are last to demonstrate: Collective Work and Responsibility, Purpose, and Faith. This procedure is used to indicate that the people come first, then the struggle, and then the hope that comes from the struggle.

You can add to this by creating your own family tradition. By adding African art objects, books, and other cultural items of African history you can make Kwanzaa a holiday your family enjoys and looks forward to celebrating.

Kwanzaa is a set-aside time for African Americans to embrace their historic culture and remember the past. Too many neglect this responsibility.

Thanksgiving 'families' enjoy festive feasts

Story and photos by John Reese
USAG Stuttgart Public Affairs

Thanksgiving 2016 was celebrated on U.S. Army Garrison Stuttgart's Panzer Kaserne at a variety of venues, Nov. 22-24, with all of the trimmings and plenty of volunteers serving chow to single service members, civilians and retirees.

Beginning the traditional feasts was for the BOSS (Better Opportunities for Single Servicemembers) program, held at the Galaxy Bowling Center, Nov. 22. A catered dinner turkey, steak and plenty of sides filled up the dozens of hungry attendees. Family Morale, Welfare and Recreation leaders, joined by the garrison command team of Col. Glenn K. Dickenson and Command Sgt. Maj. Mariano Z. Alvarez, manned a line.

"I've got the best steak in the house, just what you want," Alvarez said, encouraging the junior enlisted from all branches to save room on their plates as they passed through the line. He added generous portions of beef to as Dickenson dished out portions of yams.

"This is an awesome event," said Alvarez. "It's a good opportunity to give something back to the single Soldiers and show them how much we care about them and love them."

BOSS participants had the opportunity to bowl a few games after dinner.

The second big meal, Nov. 23, was held at the 10th Special Forces Group's dining facility and featured several pigs slow cooked barbecue-style, served-up by officers and noncommissioned officers in dress blues. The dining area was decorated with fall colors and rearranged fest-style to accommodate more patrons than usual. Diners at this event were a mixture of service members on lunch breaks, civilian employees working on the garrison footprint, and retirees and local nationals who wished to share the quintessential American meal with the military community they'd once served. The diners were joined by a few local bürgermeisters who had just concluded a tour of garrison facilities.

The third and final feast, sponsored by the United Service Organization in its offices on the third floor of Bldg. 2915 on Thanksgiving Day, was so well-received that it spilled down to the second floor, where some diners ate.

As the dinner got fully underway, Jenni Franklin, USO programs and volunteer coordinator, sent a live message on the garrison's Facebook page to share the holiday cheer.

"We're here until 4 o'clock or until the food runs out," Franklin said. "I hope you'll join us."

Volunteers cooked turkeys in ovens in the USO kitchens and deep fryers outside. The aroma of frying turkeys invited passers-by to come in and be part of the USO's Thanksgiving family. The food, too, was generously donated by volunteers. In addition to the main courses and side, a long table loaded with assorted desserts was constantly emptied and refilled.

One of the volunteers, a guest at the Panzer Hotel, spent the entire afternoon serving potatoes and stuffing, and again, as at the two previous meals, the garrison commander manned the serving line for most of the day, this time loading plates with the two kinds of turkey. Togo boxes were filled for personnel who had to remain at their duty stations.

After everyone ate their fill, diners were invited to take leftovers. No one left hungry.

Editor's note: Visit www.facebook.com/USAGarrisonStuttgart/ and <https://www.flickr.com/photos/usagstuttgart/> to see more photos from these dinners.

USO Stuttgart hosts about 400 garrison community members to enjoy a Thanksgiving dinner at the USO Center on Panzer Kaserne, Nov. 24, 2016.

Stuttgart HS principal retires

Stuttgart High School Senior

After serving 36 years with the Department of Defense Education Activity (DoDEA), Danny R. Robinson, principal, Stuttgart High School, retired, Nov. 30.

Robinson felt that his time as a principal had come to an end and believed it was time to move on in life, much to the collective dismay of students and staff.

After serving in the Army, instructing as a teacher, a coach and acting four years as an assistant principal, the final eleven years as a principal (including being principal at Patch HS) left Robinson satisfied with his career choices.

"I pinch myself everyday. This job is great," Robinson said. "At the end of the day, I always left here feeling fulfilled."

Robinson said his job as the SHS headmaster was nothing but extremely positive, and that he's enormously proud of the family-like college atmosphere that was created at the school. He's grateful and content that the time he spent here was worthwhile.

Robinson was raised in a military family as the oldest of five. He was the only member of his family to attend college (including his parents), so he set a goal to live a satisfactory and fulfilling life, and planned his future around it. He took every opportunity along the way, including internships and odd jobs. Although things didn't always go as planned, it didn't trip him up in his determination to achieve his goal.

"Some decisions are good on that day," he said. "Any decisions I've made were right on that day. I don't have any regrets."

He considers his greatest achievement to be working as a principal with an open door policy, allowing students to come to him with anything. Robinson is most thankful for the opportunity to have shaped the lives of students. To those same students, particularly those who made the transition from Patch High School to the new SHS, he expressed pride in their resilience during the move. The school works because of who the students are and how they stick together as a family team, he said, adding that the success of the move is due to the efforts of the school's wonderful teachers.

The best lessons Robinson picked up over his years as a teacher and principal taught him to take every opportunity to make teachable moments, and that students will make mistakes, but it's better that those mistakes are made in high school when they can be learned from to use later in life.

"Keep a clear conscience," Robinson advised. "If you mess something up, go fix it before you leave. Don't go home and lose sleep over anything. Make things right."

Robinson believes that teachers and principals shouldn't punish students so severely that they can't recover. Instead, trust them to admit and fix their mistakes.

"Respect students, have concern for individuals and know their needs," he encouraged. "We need to recognize that grades reflect learning, not responsibility."

Students have taught him an important lesson, too.

"Treat students like young adults, and they'll excel and live up to your expectations. Students grow up and learn," he said. "Never give up on a single one of them."

Now that he is retired, Robinson plans to perfect his art skills, learn to play an instrument, read more and travel. He's also excited to work more with his son and further expand his horizons.

Robinson will be missed by the students, staff and alumni.

"Thank you, one and all, and all the very best to you, always," he said.

Editor's note: Hannah McLamb is a SHS senior, and a 2017 yearbook and media journalist student who aspires to be an author and a musician. She will graduate from SHS in 2017.

Esslinger Medieval, Christmas

Story and photos by Kevin S. Abel
U.S. Army Garrison Stuttgart
Public Affairs Office

As the Holiday season is upon us, across Europe the Christmas markets open their stalls and attract millions of visitors with decorated and lighted stands and the smells of the holiday.

If you consider yourself a Weihnachtsmarkt professional, the Esslinger Christmas market is a must.

As if the city had been enchanted overnight, Mittelalter and Weihnachtsmarkt goes

Will be turned 600 years back; as Esslingen awakens in the Middle Ages.

Fire-breathing dragons, jugglers, story tellers and musicians entertain, while candle makers, blacksmiths, basket weavers and glassblowers celebrate old world craftsmanship from days of the past.

Above all lies the smell of charcoal fire, exotic spices, Glühwein (German mulled wine) and toasted almonds in the air between the magnificent half-timbered houses in the city center will draw you into the Medieval age.

Starting the Tuesday before the first advent Esslingen transforms and reinvents itself. The mediaeval market takes over the Marktplatz, (market square), the old town hall to Hafenmarkt for four weeks before Christmas.

The market aims to be authentic for visitors to truly experience the Middle Ages, which is why artisans, craftsmen and vendors wear medieval garments, and speak using the language of medieval times.

If Black Friday shopping didn't fulfill all your gift needs there are lots of potential Christmas gifts for the loved ones from candles, spirits, to regional Christmas decorations along with crafts of the times.

If shopping isn't your thing, you can step back in time with a few friends and bath in the public Zuber (wooden bath), learn medieval dances, sing traditional Christmas songs or take the children for the human powered carnival styled rides.

Whatever your passion is traditional Weihnachtsmarkt shopping, live entertainment, great food or immersing yourself into the festivities of the season, Mittelalter and Weihnachtsmarkt in Esslingen has a lot to explore.

Esslinger Mittelalter and Weihnachtsmarkt is open daily from 11 a.m. to 8.30 p.m. until Dec. 22. Except on the last market day, which is exactly a month after its opening day the market closes for this year at 6 p.m.

To get to Esslingen take the A8 to L1202 in Neuhausen auf den Fildern. exit 54-Esslingen. Continue on L1202. to L1192 and Ulmer Str. to Rathauspl. in Esslingen am Neckar. The address is Rathausplatz, 73728 Esslingen am Neckar. By public transportation take the S1 toward Kirchheim getting off at Esslingen, you will then need to walk about 750 meters to the Mittelalter and Weihnachtsmarkts.

Getting to Esslingen

The Mittelalter and Weihnachtsmarkt is at Rathausplatz, 73728 Esslingen am Neckar.

To get to Esslingen by car, take the A8 to L1202 in Neuhausen auf den Fildern, exit 54-Esslingen. Continue on L1202 to L1192 and Ulmer Str. to Rathauspl. in Esslingen am Neckar.

By public transportation, take the S1 toward Kirchheim getting off at Esslingen, you will then need to walk about 750 meters to the Mittelalter and Weihnachtsmarkts.

Visitors to Esslingen are often impressed by the city's medieval character and feel connected to days long gone. Even during the holiday season, they can see those medieval days come back to life with live entertainment.

During the market, visitors will be able to watch a hands-on experience by creating their own hand-

Markets come alive for holidays

Blacksmiths and other craftsmen conducting and offering their work. They can also participate and get handmade piece of art.

Visitors will have the opportunity to witness the 3,000-year-old art of glassblowing, which peaked during the late Middle Ages but a highlight for children will be the human powered Ferris Wheel or the many carnival style games.

A HOME AWAY FROM HOME

ICF (International Christian Fellowship) is a modern, non-denominational church comprised of an eclectic, multicultural and international community in Stuttgart.

As a group of imperfect people seeking Jesus, we offer meaningful Christian fellowship inside and outside the church with regular events and small groups throughout the year.

Come visit our English-speaking service on Sunday at 16.00 at Metzstrasse 1, 70190 Stuttgart | www.icf-stuttgart.de

We're looking forward to seeing you!

POOL PARTY FOR KIDS

Sun, Dec 4

Filderstadt, Fildorado

Hey kids! Looking for some fun? Have your parents bring you to the pool party on December 4 in Fildorado. Enjoy adventurous obstacle courses on the water, races, and so much more from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. If that isn't enough why not dance, or do a bit of arts and crafts. The team mascot will be there to show you how to party! To find out more about the party go to www.fildorado.de

EVENTS

Jazz jam "Mainstream"

Fri, Dec 2

Reutlingen, Jazzclub in der Mitte

Every first Friday of the month a mainstream jam session takes place at the Jazzclub in der Mitte (Jazz club in the middle) at 9 p.m. in Reutlingen. This location belongs to the oldest of its kind (founded in 1962). The special atmosphere in the old vaulted cellar invites all modern jazz lovers to listen or even participate in making music like Bebop or Latin jazz. There is no entry fee! To find out the full program on other days go to www.indermitte.de

Ice disco

Fri, Dec 2

Ludwigsburg, Kunsteisbahn

The Kunsteisbahn (artificial ice rink) Ludwigsburg will host an ice disco event on December 2 from 7 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. Special acts such as DJ Chen ft. MissVioline, Dj Damon Vick und Dj Damon Paul ft. Beccy will set the atmosphere for music in the evening. For more information and further ice disco dates see www.iceparty.tv

Wine tasting

Sat, Dec 3

Stuttgart, Wasen

The traditional Weltweihnachtscircus Stuttgart (World Christmas Circus) will take place at the Cannstatter Wasen from December 8 to January 8. See Vasily with his walrus from the Russian state circus, Schwanensee performed by the Chinese circus but with their own interpretation and many more awesome acts. A show you most definitely don't want to miss. For more information and tickets go to www.weltweihnachtscircus.de

Tour through Ludwigsburg Castle

Sat, Dec 10

Ludwigsburg, Residenzschloss

Experience Residenzschloss (residential castle) Ludwigsburg (just north of Stuttgart) during an English tour every day at 1:30 p.m. Ludwigsburg's castle is one of the biggest baroque castles in Germany, which is still preserved in its original form. The magnificently decorated rooms can only be visited with a tour guide who will inform you about all important facts. The castle doesn't have to be boring for the little visitors at all. With costumes and antique games, children can experience the daily life of princes in the 18th century. For more information about the tour and other possibilities go to www.schloss-ludwigsburg.de

Underground tour

Esslingen, city center

Experience Esslingen's underground during the tour "Keller, Krypta, Katakomben" (cellars, crypts, catacombs). The tour will start at 5 p.m. from the "Dicker Turm" (big tower) at the castle and will lead to Esslingen's ossuary under the city archive, some excavations and many more secret locations. The tour is normally in German but if you inform the Tourist Information at your registration, they do a bilingual tour. Admission is €11. For more info call 0711-39693969 or see www.esslingen-marketing.de

New Year's party

Sat, Dec 31

Stuttgart, LKA Longhorn

Have you found your location yet to celebrate New Year's? Why not come to LKA Longhorn and listen to music from the last 20 years. There will be something for everyone. Party starts at 10 p.m. and cost €6. DJ Axel will keep the party going. To find out more go to www.lka-longhorn.de
